

for two of the same bowed string instrument
Erik Carlson
2017

Both players play long slow full bows on the wood edge of the body of the instrument.

One player starts.

At any point

within about 1 to 3 seconds before the first player reaching the end of their bow the second player begins to play.

When the first player reaches the end of their bow, they stop playing.

At any point

within about 1 to 3 seconds before the second player reaching the end of their bow the first player begins to play again.

When the second player reaches the end of their bow, they stop playing.

Repeat for as long as desired.
