

for 4 readers (of similar speaking pitch)
by Erik Carlson
2014

Each reader reads their page of words out loud independently of the other readers.

The words should be pronounced however the reader sees fit, but they should not be stumbled over. Decisions should be made ahead of time and read confidently.

Words should be read as a list, with a slight space between each word to show it is separate from other words. The space should be very brief, except when necessary for breathing, swallowing, etc.
