

13th string octet
Erik Carlson
2016

Players create their own parts.

The ensemble plays in rhythmic unison,
playing notes at a tempo of ~30 bpm,
quietly and gently,
together.

All players start on pitch D4.
Each subsequent note alternates
being lower than the previous note by a minor or major second
and then being higher than the previous note by a minor or major second each interval randomly decided, but staying within the range of G#3 - G4.

Therefore the ensemble rises and falls together in pitch,
with the resulting harmonies constantly shifting.

Play for as long as desired.